Join Architectural Record magazine, October 10-11, 2007 in New York City.

The notion that design is a linear process is rapidly imploding, pushed in by the rapid acceptance of sustainability as a global imperative, the adoption of integrated practice, the convergence of digital modeling with new calculation tools, and the reinvention of craft through digital fabrication.

Join us at the 2007 Innovation Conference, and see first-hand this fundamentally new view of what it means to be an architect.

Case studies and sessions led by global design leaders will highlight how architects, engineers, specialist consultants, and contractors are working together to create extraordinary new buildings.

Space is limited — Register Today.

If you require a hotel room, please contact the Hilton Garden Inn Times Square directly, at (212) 581-7000. Mention the "Innovation Conference" for the special $339 per night room-rate. Reservations must be made by September 9, 2007.
