Desmond Douglas

Chief Financial Officer I Dodge Data & Analytics

Desmond Douglas is Chief Financial Officer for Dodge Data & Analytics (formerly McGraw Hill Construction), where he is responsible for the financial oversight of the business.

Des has held numerous positions of increasing authority across the financial spectrum. Prior to joining McGraw Hill Construction in April of 2014, he worked at McGraw Hill Financial as the corporation's Vice President, Financial Planning & Analysis. Previously, he was an Associate in the Global Consumer Group at Deutsche Bank Alex Brown, where he provided investment banking services to a wide range of clients. Prior to that, he was Vice President in the emerging markets/merchant banking division of Donaldson, Lufkin & Jenrette, responsible for international accounting operations, and was an Auditor at KPMG Peat Marwick earlier in his career.

Des holds a bachelor's degree in accounting from Fordham University and an MBA from Columbia University. In addition, he is a Certified Public Accountant.